Lucrative Racket Cashes In On Refunds

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Organized refunding rings defrauded Bay Area department stores out of an estimated $3 million last year and this figure is expected to increase sharply this year.

A report to The Post on this racket, which weekly bilks major department stores here out of thousands of dollars in cash, made by a private investigator close to the subject has been substantiated by police in three Peninsula counties.

Investigator Robert B. Levy, a former security agent with a major nationwide department store chain, has concentrated his efforts on cracking several rings now operating in the area.

"The job is frustrating. We nail them and within days, sometimes hours, these gangs are back at work," Levy said.

Daly City police sergeant John Kolbman supports Levy's disclosures concerning operation of these gangs.

Kolbman said for several months his offices have been trying to crack an especially lucrative refund racket operating at two Daly City shopping centers.

Both investigators agree that as soon as one gang is put out of operation, another springs up in its place.

Here's how the gangs work.

Usually there are two groups within a gang.

One group specializes in "ripping off," or shoplifting, from stores — usually large department stores. The stolen goods are turned over to the other group, refund experts, and the stolen merchandise is returned to a store.

These refund operators are considered "better than average at working the bluff," according to Levy.

"Even when we catch them red-handed, they try to bluff their way out of it," he said.

The stolen goods — usually women's or men's clothing — is brought back to the same store and a cash refund is requested.

To questions concerning the reason for the return of an item, the returnee may simply say it was a wedding gift and, naturally, he or she doesn't have a receipt.

"Most stores don't want to run the risk of antagonizing a good customer. The majority of people refunding items are honest, and a store just doesn't want to loose them as customers," Levy said.

The 28-year-old Levy, who now works out of his home at 119 Mariposa St., Daly City, has worked with police in three counties on the refund racket for the past four years.

During that time the number of frauds have dramatically risen, he said.

A typical case history of a youth apprehended and charged with trying to defraud a San Francisco store out of some money last year showed that the suspect averaged about $300 per week from only one store.

Under questioning he boasted of having bilked other department stores in the city out of thousands of dollars.

The 21-year-old suspect was an "active fraudulent refunder" and had a criminal history dating back several years, according to reports.

Because of embarrassment, stores defrauded in this manner are hesitant to bare their records to the general public.

They also fear that disclosure of the schemes will turn on others to how to turn a dishonest dollar.

Levy said there is one store in the area that is far ahead of others in instituting new devices to quickly catch

S. Bruno Mt. Plan Reviewed

Sentiments haven't changed much regarding the planned development of a portion of San Bruno Mountain, despite the fact a conceptual plan has been filed with the county.

While the developers confidently proceed to explain the proposal for 12,500 dwelling units on 1,400 acres of land, that ubiquitous opposing faction sticks to its position like the proverbial bee to honey.

This fact was evident again Monday when Visitacion Associates, the developers of the part of the mountain known as Visitacion Rancho, presented a special showing of its plan at an invitation press briefing in San Mateo.

Robert Follett, Visitacion Associates general manager, prefaced his remarks by acknowledging that there has been a "lack of communication" throughout the three-year attempt to develop parts of the mountain.

And, as if to verify that statement, there were two members of the luncheon group conspicuous in their presence by the fact they were neither press nor project related.

They were the Rev. Raymond Howard and Mrs. Charles Garry, representing, they said, the Old Daly City Protective Association, the group credited with changing the minds of the Daly City Council recently on redevelopment plans in that North County city.

Mrs. Garry, wife of the well-known trial lawyer Charles Garry, said after the meeting, "We oppose all of this. It will rip all of old Daly City to pieces."

The Reverend Howard, an announced candidate in the March, 1974, Daly City municipal election, said the proposed development would "destroy what we've been working for."

But Follett, and a cadre of professionals in development, gave a presentation to indicate the plan would benefit the area.

"We're not talking about developing a mountain," said Follett. "We're talking about a small perimeter around the mountain." He said 10 per cent of the entire mountain is going into development. "That's pretty small."

He said the proposal is for "no more commercial activity than is needed to serve the needs of the people who (will) live in the community."

According to Follett, "the single best thing about the project" is that it will provide 10,000 jobs. "We're land developers. But we're also environmentalists," said Follett. "And you can be both."

He estimated that beginning construction is about a year away, and that the completed project would bring in from $150 million to $165 million in assessed valuation at the end of the 15-year development plan.

Follett said the controversial 600 acres owned by Westbay Associates, which the environmentalists want included in park lands, is added open space to the 1,250-acre regional park the county is planning to establish.

Mrs. Garry, however, noted that even though the county has placed it in the open space category of the county general plan it could fall into a different use with a simple rezoning procedure.

The press was told that the objective of development was threefold: to produce housing, to bring in jobs (with a 10-year construction period the project was said to need 500 construction workers) and to develop in a way so as to preserve an existing natural amenity.

Future traffic patterns was touted as a plus. The development, it was said, would work in bike and walking trails, reduce traffic outside the development (by providing jobs within), utilize reverse commuting travel (commuters from this development ostensibly would work where they go against Standard to San Francisco commute traffic) and provide hookups to the public transportation of BART, the Southern Pacific and the new proposed county bus system.

Follett said that a new tact, apparently to reach doubters such as Mrs. Garry and the Reverend Howard, would be to include citizen representatives from affected North County cities to join in future meetings Visitacion Associates may have with county officials.

He also said his gorup "would be happy" to hold public meetings in the North County.

The total plan which is outlined in a 38-page booklet, visualizes 27,000 residents serving a variety of housing needs in various price ranges and lifestyles.

'Operation Santa' Aids Daly City Poor

Christmas 1973 is just around the corner, but it might as well be on the moon for a good number of families in Daly City. They just don't have the means to provide either a decent meal or a toy for their children.

For many of us it is that wonderful time of the year when we exchange presents and pleasantries, cards and candies.

There are those, however, who are far less fortunate and regard the season as a time of year when sorrow, rather than joy, dominates their household.

More than two decades ago — 24 years ago to be exact — Daly City businessmen, prompted by insurance agent Peter J. Markovich, decided to bring a little happiness into the homes of those who had been temporarily rocked with bad luck.

Operation Santa Claus was launched.

The object was to consolidate into one intensive campaign the fragmented assistance being given by several organizations. Studies conducted by Markovich disclosed that some folks were getting help from more than one organization wile others, who needed help just as badly, weren't getting anything at Christmastime.

Since then, most church groups, fraternal and civic organizations, service clubs, firemen, policemen, recreation department personnel and numerous grownups and children have contributed unselfishly of their time, money and understanding.

In recent days, children, accompanied by adults, have been making the rounds of homes picking up canned foods.

These items will be brought to the Elmer Kennedy Memorial Fire Station in Serramonte and divided by volunteers from throughout the community.

Only Markovich knows who gets what.

He has never given out anyone's name. The people who distribute the toys and food on Christmas Eve are told only the address of those who need help.

Some recipients of this help — while grateful — are too embarrassed to even answer the door.

There are many reasons why these people need help — illness, injury, death, perhaps unemployment or some other misfortune has struck.

Regardless of the reason, the true Spirit of Christmas can be witnessed by the efforts extended by "Santa's Helpers," supporters say.

Last year, through the efforts of these people, 244 families with 843 children were able to enjoy a more joyous holiday.

This year, Markovich predicts that figure will be topped.

Hopefully, the outpouring of community help from individuals and local markets will be such that each and every family will have a better Yule and be able to face the New Year with a little more hope in their hearts, Markovich said.

"There is a kind of magic about Christmas. Everything seems clean and new. We have renewed hopes for our future and those of our fellow man. It is a time to be neighborly and hope for good things for all. Everyone can do their share," Markovich said.

Assistant Police Chief Beecher Will Retire

Roy John Beecher, who rose from the ranks to become Assistant Chief of the Daly City Police Department, will retire after 30 years of service at the end of December.

At 58, Beecher said he will devote time to catching fish instead of criminals.

With his wife, Thelma, the law officer will travel around the state "before deciding what I'm going to do in the future."

Beecher was born in Daly City.

He joined the department in 1943 and made sergeant in 1952. Some 12 years later — in 1964 — he was appointed assistant to chief Roland Petrocchi.

Roy and Thelma Beecher raised four children in Daly City. One of the couple's children, a daughter, died two years ago.

Things have changed in the law enforcement field "since I was a kid" Beecher tells.

"There are all sorts of rules you have to go by to protect the rights of people. I would say to some extent police are 'handcuffed' by these new rulings, but it's not as bad as it's being painted," he said.

Police today "must go by the book" before making arrests, Beecher said.

In some respects Beecher thinks these new laws are good. They make for a stronger case when a suspect gets to court, he feels.

And there are some policemen who "take advantage of situations" and need to have a guide to go by, Beecher said.

There is, however, a great future for those who are dedicated and want to channel their direction into law enforcement, he said.

Nowadays, colleges offer courses in criminology — something they didn't have when Beecher was starting out after leaving Jefferson High School.

"I have no regrets," Beecher says. "If I had to do it all over again . . . I'd do it just the way I did it the first time."

A successor to Beecher will be named after tests are administered to qualified persons in the field, a City Hall spokesman said.

No Partridge This Year But Will a Crow Do?

A Brisbane housewife may not have received a "Partridge in a Pear Tree" on the Fourth Day of Christmas, but she did find a crow in her kitchen light fixture.

Mary Jo Riebold came home about 3 a.m. Monday morning to find a big black crow sitting on her kitchen light fixture. She called police.

Officer Bill Morrison responded to 12 Sierra Point Road to find the crow sitting calmly on the light, and the housewife ordering the bird out of the house.

How the crow got into the house is a mystery, police said.

All doors were locked and the windows closed. And the bird wasn't inside the building when she left, the woman told police.

In his report, Officer Morrison said, "Bird apprehended after chase through home, taken outdoors and released on its own recognizance."

From South San Francisco

Health Center Granted $6000

By JACK BIK

Over-riding sharp protests from one councilman and the recommendation of the city manager, the South San Francisco City Council Monday night voted to give $6,000 to Our Lady of Guadalupe Health Center, on 75 Wellington Ave., Daly City, to purchase a new X-ray unit.

"The people there are doing a terrific job," Councilman Pat Ahern declared. "People who would never be able to go to a dentist are getting the treatment they need."

Mayor Warren Steinkamp also expressed his enthusiasm over the center's operation.

"Do we have any extra money?" Councilman Borba asked.

City Mgr. Ed Alario reported that the city has $36 million in capital budget needs.

"Although $6,000 does not seem so much, this kind of thing will continue. Tonight, we learned about a major sewer system which may have to be replaced. It's a small amount — but where will it stop?"

Borba proposed getting the $6,000 from the $33,000 budget of the Information and Referral Center, since the IRC has been having "internal problems."

"I DON'T KNOW where it will stop," Councilman Terry Mirri declared. Poor people always have needs."

Mirri reported that 12½ per cent of the patients are South San Franciscans.

"It would be criminal to let them close down," Mirri declared. "If we can find the money for stone and concrete for capital improvement projects, then we certainly can find money for people."

"Since when is this city in the welfare business?" asked Borba. "We pay our taxes to the county to take care of welfare."

He lost out in the vote, however, 4-1.

IN OTHER business, the councilmen:

—Set a Jan. 7 date for a public hearing on rezoning a nine-acre site, on the west side of Spruce Avenue, from R-3 (apartment) and C-3, (heavy commercial) to PCM, planned commercial and light industrial district.

Representatives attending from Mayfair Village were told that the zoning would include a 50-foot planting strip between their homes and any future buildings. The site is now zoned C-3 along Spruce Avenue and R-3 behind the Mayfair homes.

—Protested the 40/60 division between county and cities proposed for the June, 1974 park bond allocation, and urged that the $2,173,000 for San Mateo County be allocated strictly according to population.

Pacifica and other North County cities also have protested.

—Adopted a new zone for city — an open space (OS) district." Nineteen sites, all parks and playgrounds, were given OS zoning. Totaling 82 acres, they included Orange Memorial Park, 26 acres; Sign Hill Park, 22 acres, and Westborough Park, 10 acres. OS districts could contain single family homes if on one-acre sites, farms, greenhouses, hobby shops, pools and schools, and churches. With permits, they can contain public utility and service structures, colleges, a broadcasting tower and a quarry.

—Borba urged that all staff members receive council approval before they leave the city to represent it.

V. Kyriakis Announces Council Seat Candidacy

Daly City Councilman Victor G. Kyriakis last week declared his candidacy for the council seat he has held since 1972, when he was appointed to replace Assemblyman Louis J. Papan.

The 38-year-old Daly City attorney, has been a resident homeowner in the city for the past 12 years.

He was formerly a City Planning Commissioner before assuming the council post and has been active in civic functions for several years in the community.

Kyriakis is a delegate to the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) the regional agency responsible for controlled development of the Bay Area, and is a former member of the Citizens Committee of the San Mateo County Transit Development Board.

He said one of his main concerns is the transportation problem throughout the county, and in particular Daly City, site of the Bay Area Rapid Transit terminus station on John Daly Blvd.

Victor Kyriakis

Because of the lack of adequate mass transit facilities — feeder buses — commuters must drive their cars to the BART station. These motorists have inundated the entire neighborhood with cars, many illegally parked, Kyriakis said.

"We must have efficient, quality transportation available to citizens at a price they can afford to pay," Kyriakis said.

"But I don't think a transportation system that places another tax burden on the shoulders of the people would benefit anyone. I want to see a network of buses that can take all our citizens from near their homes, as an example, to a shopping center, recreational facility, or to the BART station, cheaply and safely," Kyriakis said.

Kyriakis, as chairman of Daly City's Transportation Committee, said he has instructed the city staff to research ways and means of implementing a citywide transportation system.

With gasoline prices climbing higher at an alarming rate and the possibility of gasoline rationing, the answer to the problem of moving people about in the community is to provide modern masss transportation for them, Kyriakis said.

"There are monies becoming available for Federal and State government sources for this purpose," he said. "With these funds we may yet be able to offer our community a first-rate transportation system."

He said the need for such a system, however, must not overshadow the cost of establishing and operating a municipal bus system.

Kyriakis reminded that Daly City is a residential community and cannot stand the consequences of added property taxes, for any purpose.

He agrees that the best course to pursue in maintaining a tight city budget and stable property tax rate is to continue the so-called "pay-as-you-go" policy in government. That is, the purchase or lease of facilities for public use incumbering incomber ing property owners with bonds.

And Kyriakis also feels every effort must be made to improve housing for the city's elderly "who live on a tight budget and must make every penny count."

The councilman vowed to support such housing in the future and pointed out he had voted for senior citizen housing in the past when the matter came before him.

The city tax rate has a direct affect on all taxpayers in the city — elderly and young alike, Kyriakis explained.

A primary means of holding down property taxes is to broaden the city's tax base, he feels.

"This can be accomplished by encouraging new businesses to locate here. Daly City is a residential community and has no industry to speak of. Because of this, the tax burden falls on the people, one way or another.

Bike Paths In Pacifica

Pacifica soon will have the start of a system of bicycle paths throughout the city.

Councilmen Dec. 10 approved a request by the Parks, Beaches and Recreation Commission for a $7,134 project. The state Department of Transportation is being asked to pay two-thirds of the costs.

According to Recreation Supt. Ginny Silva, the route will provide safe access to the new fishing pier, Oceana High tennis courts and other playgrounds, shopping centers, baseball fields at Linda Mar, Ortega and Terra Nova, and various churches and shopping centers.

She wrote that $3,190 will be spent for new paths, eight feet wide, while the rest of the money will be spent on replacing storm drains and putting up signs.

The longest path will be along the north bank of Pedro Creek, from the Coast Highway eastward for 700 feet, through Linda Mar Shopping Center to DeSolo Drive.

Another path will traverse the east side of the Coast Highway, between Linda Mar Boulevard and Pedro Creek. A third will go along the east side of Francisco Boulevard, from Sharp Park Golf Course to Clarendon Road.

A Proposed Pay Hike

Pacifica Pool Bond Put on Ballot

Pacifica city councilmen acted Dec. 10 to place a $400,000 swimming pool bond issue and a pay hike for city employes on the March 5 ballot.

Councilmen already had agreed to place the measures on the ballot last Wednesday, but were unable to act because they were in a special meeting called on another subject.

City Manager Dave Thompson explained that the pool would be built jointly with Jefferson Union High School District at Oceana High School.

The pool's estimated cost is $700,000, which the school district would pay 60 per cent, leaving $280,000 for the city to pay.

Thompson said recommended a $400,000 bond issue since building costs have been "outstripping all efforts to estimate costs."

He expressed hope of being able to build the pool within the estimated costs, or less.

"If we don't use all the bonds, we won't sell them. We can't use the bonds for anything else."

Based on 7 per cent interest, Thompson estimated that a $400,000 bond issue would raise the tax rate by 43¢ cents per $100 valuation — although he hoped to get less than 7 per cent.

At City Atty. John Sherman's insistence, the wording of the bond issue must be approved by a bond attorney.

The other measure, almost identical to that rejected in last month's special election, would privide for the tax rate to be raised to provide a cost of living increase for city employes' pay not to exceed 8 per cent.

Councilwoman Grace McCarthy succeeded in having a phrase added to the measure to make it clear that the 8 per cent would only be a ceiling — not the full amount of the increase.

The phrase says, "if necessary to meet an increased cost of living."

"We'd still be free to negotiate," she said, adding that unless the voters authorized such a tax hike, the councilmen would be unable to offer an increase.

She said Senate Bill 90 had strait-jacketed the cities' ability to adjust their income to their needs, forcing such an election whenever the councilmen wished to increase pay.

Pacifica had become a training field for other cities, she complained, with its low-paid employes leaving whenever they wished to advance themselves.

Man Stabbed In Pacifica

Details surrounding a stabbing in Pacifica Dec. 11 became clearer following intensive police investigation.

Victim William Phillips, 20, 215 Chapman Ave., South San Francisco, is reported to be in good iondition at Mary's Help Hospital.

A man arrested after the stabbing was not charged with the stabbing, according to police.

Leonard Bell, 22, 415 Esplanade, Pacifica, is being held in the county jail in Redwood City on two San Francisco warrants of car theft and of cultivating marijuana, the latter being nonbailable, according to Pacifica Police Sgt. B. Manley.

He said the investigation of the stabbing is still in progress, and the district attorney's office will be requested to file a charge after the investigation is concluded.

According to the investigating officer, Preston Thompson, there was confusion surrounding the stabbing because police did not learn about it until friends of the victim took him to the Pacific Manor Medical Center, which was closed.

Police later learned that the stabbing took place in the home of Garth Powelson, 395 Edna Lane, where they found what they said they believe to be the weapon, a pearl handle pocket knife, 2½ to 3 inches long.

There appeared to have been about a half-dozen persons involved in the fight at the home at the time, which complicated the problem of police finding out who did the stabbing, Thompson reported.

$1,700 Taken From Office

A grand theft of $1,700 from a company cash box was reported to South San Francisco police today by Paul Chartrand, president of Power Products Inc., 180 Sylvester Road.

D.C. Police Nab Four Near Bank

Four men were captured by Daly City police Friday as they tried to flee from a bank with an undisclosed amount of cash taken at gunpoint from tellers.

The men were armed with a variety of weapons, including a sawed-off shotgun, .22-caliber pistol and .32-caliber revolver, police said.

About 4 p.m., three of the alleged bank robbers entered the First National Bank of Daly City's main building at 6600 Mission St.

While one man covered the south entrance to the bank with the sawed-off shotgun, an accomplice stationed himself at the north entrance.

A third man vaulted the bank tellers' counter and began scooping up currency police said.

When the trio walked into the bank and announced the bank was being held up, a bank employe was talking on the telephone to a customer. The employe told the person on the telephone to call police.

As the three men rushed from the bank, they were joined by a fourth man. Together they ran to a waiting car parked a half-block away.

Before the gang could make their getaway, however, police arrived and apprehended the men without struggle, according to a police spokesman.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is cooperating in the investigation of the robbery, police said.

Albert's Work Nation's Stability

Who are the modern American patriots? Who are the men who think more of their country than of themselves? There are doubtless many, but only occasionally does selflessness come to full public view.

Certainly, we have had many cases of the other kind. Senator Eagleton seems to have had his eye on personal advancement regardless of possible consequences to Senator McGovern, his party, and most importantly, his country. Spiro Agnew could not have given a moment's serious thought to his duty to American. All too many modern public men appear to be dominated by a personal compulsion for fortune or power. As a result, the country has often come in a poor second.

This year we may well have witnessed an extraordinary example of lov of country. One man has certainly given the nation stability in stormy times indeed.

The patriot? House Speaker Carl Albert. His attitudes and actions changed constitutional crisis to orderly succession. Because of the combination of Presidential difficulties and Vice Presidential disaster, we have recently experienced a most menacing period of history. When Agnew stepped down, pent up furies and fears dictated that this was no time for politics as usual. Constitutional government was at the vortex of a howling holocaust, and Carl Albert was in a position where he could do more about it than anyone else.

Albert has been a standout all of his life. Phi Beta Kappa, Rhodes scholar, 26-year veteran of the House of Representatives, and a protege of Sam Rayburn, he advanced through a variety of leadership posts to his present position through hard work and party regularity. With the speakership came the added responsibility of being third in line to the presidency, the pinnacle of power.

Then came Watergate and the fall of Agnew. Suddenly Carl Albert was well placed for the ultimate in self-promotion. Not only was he in a position to succeed, but he could do something about it. As leader of a large Democratic majority, Albert's voice was the most influential as to impeachment and approval of a successor to Agnew.

A power greedy man could have easily tried to promote himself. A partisan zealot might have manipulated matters to advantage his own political party. There were many ways this could have been done. House approval could have been withheld from any but a Democrat. Delay could have been used in Albert's personal favor. Or the position of Vice President could have been held vacant indefinitely. In that event Albert might have hoped to succeed to the Presidency itself, and then could have held office or made way for a future Vice Presidential designee of his choice.

The 1972 election was no cliff hanger. It was a record-breaking landslide. In spite of recent events, it must be recognized as a mandate for Nixon-Agnew policies, and as an overwhelming call of the people for "four more years" of a Nixon Administration as they then perceived the first four years to have been. That it was later discovered that both Nixon and Agnew had problems that, if disclosed at the time, might have collapsed the mandate does not change its essential nature.

When the President nominated Gerald Ford, he named a man who precisely fit that mandate. Criticized by some for slavish adherence to Nixonian policies, Ford's real strength was in his personal similarity to the "four more years" the people thought they were electing in 1972.

When, immediately following the Ford designation, the media, with strong assistance from every aspirant for the Presidency in 1976, thrust upon Ford the image of a drab and dull man (which he is not), the nomination was in trouble. At that key moment, Carl Albert let the world know that he supported Ford.

Realtor To Host Party

The Pacifica-Coastside Board of Realtors will host their annual Christmas party at Nick's Restaurant in Rockaway Beach Dec. 22. No-host cocktails will be served from 7 p.m. and dinner will begin at 8 p.m.

Croy's other guests will be Mrs. Madeline Hier, executive office of the North San Mateo County Board and representatives of the Menlo Park-Atherton Board of Realtors and the San Mateo-Burlingame Board of Realtors.

Magnasco announced that over $4000 in door prizes will be given out at the party.

Man Held For Holdup

Pacifica, Jefferson District Agree to Build Pool

In their first joint meeting in several years, the Pacifica City Council and Jefferson Union High School District trustees Wednesday agreed to act jointly in bringing about a covered swimming pool at Oceana High School.

The two bodies met in the cafeteria of Terra Nova High School.

The City Council voted to:

—Go on record to place a $400,000 bond issue on the ballot, and use its invested capital improvement funds to finance the entire cost of the pool, on the understanding that the school district will over a number of years repay the city its 60 per cent share of the cost.

—Request the County Board of Supervisors to place on the March 5 ballot a proposition to raise the city tax rate, "if necessary to meet the rise in the cost of living . . . pay increase for the employes of the City of Pacifica not to exceed 8 per cent . . ."

—Ask the board to place on the ballot a second proposition — for the $400,000 bond issue to build a municipal swimming pool, including a building to enclose it.

—Permit Oceana and Terra Nova High Schools to have a San Francisco firm pick up their recycling collections.

The high school board voted to:

—Go on record to approve the swimming pool in a joint venture with Pacifica, when adequate financing become available.

—Endorse the band election for the pool.

Behind the nearly unanimous parade of actions taken during the meeting — jointly chaired by Mayor Aubrey Lumley and School Board Pres. Jane Powell — many doubts, questions, and complaints were expressed.

Supt. Edward Morgan explained that the school district had to borrow its share of the pool project from the city: the school board is currently calling for bids for completion of Terra Nova High School, a little theater for Oceana, and a second increment for Serramonte High, totaling an estimated $4,376,000. The little theater, he added, has just come in $167,000 over the $370,000 estimate.

Furthermore, the school district is paying Daly City's share of the jointly financed $700,000 pool at Westmoor High, with Daly City promising to repay its 40 per cent over the next few years.

If Pacifica can finance the entire project, then the school district can pay its share at the rate of a little over $100,000 a year, Morgan said.

"By March 1, we can let you know if we have money in our bond fund or not," Morgan said.

Councilman Stanley Farber proposed putting a bond issue for the entire project on the ballot, with the school district repaying its share over the next few years, in order to keep its capital improvement funds invested.

"If we can finance all the cast from a bond issue at 4.5 per cent while our capital improvement funds continue to earn 9.5 per cent, it's a better deal for our taxpayers," Farber said.

City Manager David Thompson, however, pointed out that such a bond issue would carry a 10-cent tax rate instead of 4.5 cents, which may be "too high a hurdle at the polls."

Trustee Ruth Boudinot voiced the only "no" vote, as the board approved the joint venture. She stressed that she was not opposed to the pool, but had doubts on the methods of financing. However, she voted with the others to endorse the bond election.

Operation Santa Claus

It matters not how the world changes, the Christmas story is told over and over, year after year through ages dark with ignorance and through decades brightened by science.

It is a story that belongs to common people, speaking of their hopes as well as their miseries. In it they find common folk like themselves. Here, to paraphrase Dr. Albert Edward Bailey, are "helpless and desperate Mary, helpless and exasperated Joseph" and hard-hearted innkeepers. Each like people who exist to this day of grace.

It is a story of the eternal conflict of human need and human selfishness that had been exemplified a thousand times before that night and a thousand times since. This story, Dr. Bailey wrote, "symbolizes our own blindness. So often, even today, people surfeited with worldly goods forget to show mercy to those in dire need from one cause or another, and thereby fail to entertain angels unawares."

With such thoughts in mind it is good to know that there are ways to assist us in extending our mercies and our charities to unfortunate persons. One of the most commendable of these is known as "Operation Santa Claus," a movement that brings together civic clubs, merchants, fraternal organizations, churches, schools and others for acts of kindness.

"OPERATION Santa Claus" is coordinated by the Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce, so the mercies of 16 organizations and many private people are spread around. Thus, it will take 30 trucks and no fewer than 70 volunteers to distribute the toys and the turkeys that will be placed with the less fortunate people of the area.

Volunteers are needed on the evening of Dec. 23 and the morning of Dec. 24. Interested people may call the Chamber of Commerce@ 755-8526.

Operation Santa Claus started 24 years ago when 48 families were helped during the holidays. In 1972 the number of families had risen to 248, while in 1973 the number will reach 300.

Such families are needy for many reasons. Among them are those with breadwinners who have been injured, and those where layoffs and strikes have trimmed the family finances to nothing.

"It's a community effort," Peter Markovich, manager of the Chamber, said, "and we try to take care of every needy family."

ENJOYING a cruise to Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. John Hofstadt of Daly City relax aboard Sitmar Cruises' TSS "Fairsea." During the 14-day cruise, they visited Puerto Vallarta, Acajutla, Acapulco, Zihuatanejo, Mazatlan, and Cabo San Lucas before returning to Los Angeles.

Growing Older Confab Held

Over 200 citizens from North County gathered at Jefferson High School recently to participate in a workshop devoted to exploring the difficulties and the advantages of growing older in North County.

The participants, who were joined by resource people from all branches of government and other social agencies, explored the issues of transportation, education and recreation, the services available to senior citizens, how to talk about subjects generally regarded as taboo and how to get what is needed.

Tenants at Ocean View Inn in Pacifica constituted themselves as a special study/action group to bring about changes in the conditions at the Pacifica senior citizens housing development. Complaints focused on faulty construction, lack of maintenance services and poor management practices.

Keynote speaker, Bill Baird, a representative from the Legislative Council for Older Americans, told the full assembly that it was up to them to organize and bring the pressure which will result in better conditions for senior citizens in this society.

He cited instances in which political pressure had yielded significant results in Sacramento and Washington. He noted particularly the recent increases in aid to the disabled which were brought about in part by pressure from senior citizen groups.

The workshop was sponsored by the North County Citizens Committee for Mental Health Services with assistance from various agencies including North County Mental Health.

Karen Norton of the Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation Deaprtment was general chairman.

Graduated

Army Private Harry M. Bito, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isabelo C. Bito, 101 Shakespeare St., Daly City, has completed a 10-week basic health science course at the Academy of Health Sciences of the U.S. Army, Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

Book Outlines Methods for Heart Care, Disease Prevention

Dr. Michael Rabbino, president of the San Mateo County Heart Association, announced last week that the Inter-Society Commission for Heart Disease Resources, an organization of medical experts, has assembled in one book all its recommendations issued during the past four years for improving the prevention and treatment of heart and blood vessel diseases, the number one cause of death in the United States.

The Commission's book, "Cardiovascular Diseases — Guidelines for Prevention and Care Resources," is available for $6.95 by the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, San Francisco, California 49102. (Public Health Service HSM 73-7002).

ICHD was established in 1969 to establish guidelines for the development of resources essential for the treatment and rehabilitation of cardiovascular diseases.

The 200-member Commission represents 29 leading medical organizations. Since its founding, ICHD had issued 29 reports. The reports have been an important source of information to professionals in the health field, and many have been of interest to the general public.

During 1970 The Commission issued eight reports on the primary prevention of various Cardiovascular diseases, including a recommendation for a national study to determine whether diet modifications can prevent premature coronary heart disease. ICHD also called for the elimination of cigarette smoking as a national habit.

In May of 1971, a report recommended strongly that hospitals should no longer work independently, but should coordinate their efforts within communities or regions to minimize costly and inefficient identical and sometimes competitive coronary care services.

Now, after four years of intensive work, these and all other ICHD reports will be published in one volume. Each report published in the book has been reviewed and updated, and ICHD will update these reports for future publication as a continuing service.

In announcing publication of the volume, Dr. Rabino said that "research advances in medicine which sit on the shelf may be satisfying to the scientist, much as the solving of a complicated chess problem, but until they are transmitted to usable form for the benefit of mankind, they will not have achieved their ultimate fulfillment."

Study groups responsible for the reports were organized along the following areas of cardiovascular disease: Coronary, Hypertensive, atherosclerotic, pulmonary, congenital, rheumatic, cardiomyopathy, peripheral vascular.

Other study groups concentrated on special areas such as epidemiology, instrumentation, radiology and surgery. These reports represent the judgement of many of the most knowledgeable leaders in the field of cardiovascular medicine.

"The Festival of Lights and the Energy Crisis" is the sermon topic selected by Rabbi Sheldon Edwards to be delivered at Sabbath Services at Congregation B'nai Israel, Dec. 21.

The service will be held in the sanctuary at 1575 Annie Street, Daly City and will begin at 8:30 p.m. Assisting Rabbi Edwards is Cantor Jacob Graudenz who will chant the liturgy. An Oneg Shabbat will follow the service.

Sam, who has now reached maturity in the eyes of the synagogue, can take his place as an adult member of the Congregation. He will participate in the service, read blessing and prayers, and chant the Haftorah, an accompanying work to the Torah Reading.

Marking this special day in his life, Sam will be presented with his own Tallit (Prayer Shawl) by his parents, a Certificate of Bar Mitzvah by Rabbi Edwards, a Prayer Book of his own by Congregation President, A. Arthur Hirschhorn, a ritual Kiddush Cup by his mother who is President of the Sisterhood, and a Prayer Book will be presented to the Congregation in Sam's honor by a representative of the Men's Club.

The service will begin at 10 a.m., and "We Have Always been Outnumbered" is the sermon topic selected by Rabbi Edwards. The family of Sam Greendorfer will host a Kiddush following the service.

The Men's Club of Congregation B'nai Israel will host a Chanukah Swap Party for the children of the Congregation Dec. 23 from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Templehouse.

President of the Men's Club, Julius Michaelis announces that the afternoon will feature surprises and entertainment. Featured will be the Great Dave Evans, Master of Magic and a judo-karate demonstration. In addition, there will be gifts for the children, games and refreshments.

NELL NORTON

With Christmas just a week away, I'll finish off the ideas for gifts with a variety of recipes. No Christmas would be complete in my home unless I made Phyllis Checchettini's Biscotti, it's so good and makes a generous amount, just right for sharing.

BISCOTTI

½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
3 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon anise flavoring
1 cup almonds, chopped

Cream the half cup butter and on cup sugar. Add the three eggs one at a time, beat well. Sift together the three cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder and one teaspoon salt. Add to creamed mixture. Stir in the teaspoon anise flavoring and on cup chopped almonds. (This makes a very stiff dough.) Turn the dough onto floured board and knead until smooth. Divide dough in half. Form into rolls the length of cookie sheet. Place on lightly greased cookie sheet and bake in 350-degree oven for 30 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove from oven and cut into three-fourths inch slices while still hot. Place slices, cut side down, on cookie sheet. Return to oven for 10 minutes to brown lightly and dry out.

These next cookies are completely different in shape, texture and method of baking from the biscotti. If your taste is for a sweeter, more moist cookie, these are the ones for you.

PENUCHE SQUARES

¼ cup margarine
1 cup brown sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 package semi-sweet chocolate bits, 6-oz.
½ cup chopped nuts

Melt the one-fourth cup margarine and beat in the one cup brown sugar. Cool slightly. Add the one egg and the half teaspoon vanilla; beat until mixture is light and fluffy. Sift together the one cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder and one-fourth teaspoon salt and add to creamed mixture. Mix well. Lightly stir in the six ounces chocolate bits and half cup nuts and spread in greased 8-inch square pan. Bake in 350 degree oven 27 to 30 minutes. Do not overbake. Cool and cut into 1-inch squares.

As you must know, I'm always looking for new recipes and/or new versions of old recipes. This year I decided to make a Christmas favorite in a new way. For years I've made peanut-butter pinwheels using a basic cooked fondant. Using cold mashed potatoes and powdered sugar I made an equally delicious candy in a much faster and easier way.

PEANUT BUTTER PINWHEELS

1 medium potato
1 box powdered sugar, more or less
½ teaspoon vanilla
peanut butter

Boil potato with peel until soft. Peel and mash potato well, then add the one pound powdered sugar gradually, beating well. Use enough sugar to make a easily handled fondant. Add the half teaspoon vanilla.

Sprinkle bread board lightly with powdered sugar and knead fondant until smooth. Divide in half. Place between sheets of wax paper which have been rubbed with powdered sugar and roll out like pie crust to a rectangle. Spread with peanut butter. Roll up from short side, jelly roll fashion.

Lovanne Heath

A very happy holiday season to all and may the new year be filled to overflowing with good things for you and your loved ones.

Are you going to have any spare time after the first of the year? Mrs. Bunne Pardini is looking for a volunteer to teach Water Safety to safety instructors for the Girl Scout program in Daly City. She hopes to get the class underway early in the spring, so that when swimming rolls around the local association will have many adults to insure adequate water safety training for troop members who will be headed for camps during the summer.

It may not be the ideal time for swimming right now, but the girls in the Daly City area are continuing their classes right through the raining season. Following a break for the holiday, troops will swim on the first Thursday of each month after Jan. 10. Cadettes and Senior Scouts will hold classes on the second Thursday of each month with the third Thursday reserved for Brownies and the fourth for Juniors. All classes are held in the Jefferson pool between 7 and 9 p.m.

Assisting with the swim program are volunteer senior scout lifeguards Louise Anderson, Helen Rogers, Kris Dale, Debbie Winters, Jane Stewart, Sharon Pardini, Charlene Menn and Darice Robinson.

If you would like to volunteer to be a part of this fine training program, or if you wish more information about swimming for scouts, call Mrs. Pardini, 755-8965.

MEMBERS of the Florence Crittenton Services, North Peninsula Auxiliary, met Friday for the group's annual Champagne Christmas Brunch.

The festive event was held in the Colma home of Mrs. Ron Chiappari, and members toasted the successful term of retiring auxiliary president, Mrs. Richard McClain — now living too far from this area to commute for volunteer activities — and congratulated themselves on the growth and expansion of the unit in the 10 years since the first such Champagne Brunch was held.

The next gathering of the members will be in January, when there will be an installation of new officers and a vote on the proposed revised by-laws.

POSITIVE action was the keynote sounded by the more than 200 North County senior citizens who attended the "People in Partnership" program held earlier this month under the sponsorship of the North County Citizens Committee for Mental Health Services.

Acting on the suggestion of Bill Baird, representative from the Legislative Council for Older American, many of the persons present banded into special action groups to work on such problems as transportation, education and recreation, and housing for seniors.

Karen Norton of the Pacific Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department was general chairman of the conclave.

CHRISTMAS gifts and the revelation of secret sisters were incorporated into the monthly business meeting of the San Francisco Alumnae chapter of the Alph Iota Sorority.

Mrs. Janice McCraney was the hostess for the Dec. 12 meeting-party.

Members of the Fifty Plus Club of Pacifica have had a difficult choice to make these past weeks, whether to welcome in the New Year with a two day outting to Lake Tahoe's North Shore, or with a longer jaunt to the Empress Hotel in Victoria British Columbia for a fantastic Scot's New Year's Party.

Those who have opted for the longer trip north will be leaving a week from tomorrow aboard a chartered bus, while those who will be seeing the New Year in at Tahoe will leave on Dec. 30.

Anyone with questions about either trip should call the reservations chairman, Elizabeth Funderburg, immediately.

THE OUR Lady of Mercy Parish will welcome 1974 with a dinner-dance, "Moonlight and Roses '73," in the parish hall, according to word from Mrs. William Schou and Joseph Dovichi, the publicity chairpeople for the Westlake Catholic Women and the Westlake Catholic Men.

Reservations, costing $10 per person, are available to persons contacting Mrs. Clyde Silverthorn, 755-6548, or Mrs. William Feeley, 755-7321.

THE ANNUAL lighting award of the Electrical Industry Trust is shown being presented by Anson W. Hard, industrial trust coordinator, to the 1973 winner, Stewart Chevrolet, Colma. Accepting is Joseph Montalbano, Sr., president. The award is presented each year to the outstanding commercial business for effective and aesthetic illumination.

TN Jazz Band Will Perform

The Emmy award winning jazz/rock contata, "The Prince of Peace," will be presented by Terra Nova's jazz band and chorus. The one-time performance is tonight at 8 p.m. in the T.N. cafetorium, and is free to the public.

Vicki Proche and Kay Ross are the two soloists in the cantata. John Bentley, musical director, reports that rehearsals are going well. "This performance is probably one of the best efforts of the jazz band and chorus ever."

Gas Fire Damages Daly City Garage

A garage of a Daly City home burst into flames last week when gasoline ignited causing an estimated $12,000 damage.

Daly City fire officials said the garage of F. Coates III at 211 Oakridge Drive was completely gutted.

According to officials, Coats said he was siphoning gas from a 2-gallon can at the same time pre-heating an electric soldering iron which rested on a ledge near the gasoline.

Officials reported Coats said he tripped on the solde ing iron cord causing the iron to fall onto gasoline he had spilled while siphoning.

Coats attempted to put out the insuing fire with a garden hose, officials said, but was ultimately forced out of the garage. Neighbors called the fire department.

Meanwhile, heat in the garage triggered a sprinkler system installed in the garage, and the fire was controlled until firemen arrived.

Firemen said in a subsequent investigation a 33-gallon drum of gasoline and several 5-gallon cans were found in the garage.

The officials said water from the sprinklers kept the cans cool and prevented an explosion.

There was an estimated $9,000 damage to the garage and $3,000 to contents.

The Unwanted Canines at TN

By SANDRA BRYAND

A heartbreaking crisis in the United States today is the survival of the American canine. Overpopulated and unwanted, most mixed breed dogs never enjoy the love of humans.

In San Mateo County, only 20 per cent of all strays are claimed by their owners. Of the other 80 per cent, 15 per cent are adopted by new owners; over 25,000 stray Cats and dogs were destroyed by the Humane Society.

Working at the Peninsula Humane Society must be depressing. Everyday stray dogs come and very few are claimed. The Humane Society is unable to house the dogs and cats indefintely because of lack of space.

When a call is received by the Humane Society it is routed to a humane officer who must decide the importance of the call and attends it in order of importance compared to other calls.

Each truck is responsible for an area housing 80,000 people. That might explain the reason for the long delay in answering a call.

The problem of stray or loose dogs has come to the attention of Terra Nova students and faculty by the increasing amount of dogs running throughout the school.

When a loose dog is found at school, the Peninsula Humane Society is called. Terra Nova maintenance men try to contain the dog, but because of their inexperience in this field, and the lack of cooperation of students, the dogs are rarely held until the arrival of officers.

George Hinkle, vice principal at Terra Nova, states that when the officer does arrive, he is usually hassled by students, who then try to scare the dog off or hide it.

The solution to this is cooperation by owners, Hinkle says. If owners watch their dogs and help control the population growth, the rate of stray and unwanted dogs would be much less.

EPA Plan Called 'Ridiculous'

SSF Opposes Smog Rules

South San Francisco joined a growing number of cities last week in voicing objection to the Environmental Protection Agency's proposed new smog law.

By a unanimous vote, the council approved a resolution opposing the EPA transportation plan.

Councilman Patrick Ahern called the plan "ridiculous," and was joined by City Attorney John Noonan who declared "This is a very severe regulation, $45 per year for each parking place. If you taxed the property 24 hours a day it would almost equal the assessment of the district.

Mayor Warren Steinkamp commented that "if three or more people ride in the same car, (when it's parked) you don't have to pay that tax on a commercial street."

"Who's going to stand around counting the people?" Ahern asked.

"The regulation is there, and either you come up with an alternate plan, or you live by that regulation," Steinkamp answered.

"But, who is going to make the determination that this particular space is not valid to be taxed?" Councilman Frank Mammini said, insistantly.

"Come up with the answer to clean air, then tax," he said. "By doing this, you have met the criteria, but still don't have the answer."

The discussion became a heated one, and as if to end it, Steinkamp said, "There are agencies for air pollution, and there will be an agency for this."

Also at the meeting Frank Reynolds, of Jenks and Adamson, Sanitary and Civil Engineers, appeared before the council to suggest a change in contractors to speed up construction of the Submarine Outfall.

In a letter to Hugo Stoppoloni, acting director, Department of Public Services, Reynolds explained that "the contractor on the outfall, Project Unit No. 3, has completed all of the work under his contract except the physical connection to the Outfall Force Main, Project Unit No. 2. Because of the manner in which the Outfall Force Main contractor either was required or chose to schedule his work, the section of his pipeline to which the Submarine Outfall contractor must connect has not been constructed yet."

He added that the switch in contractors would be of no extra cost to the city.

His idea was approved.

An estimated $25,000 is necessary for installment of improved heating, air conditioning and ventilation at City Hall. Half of the sum would be used for the upstairs section of the building, tying in a constant air flow and regulating heating system.

There is already a central gas heating unit in the basement, to which the air conditioning apparatus would be added. All council members agreed.

The Oyster Point Marina has no rescue and work boat. Alario said that "we are depending on private boats to serve this purpose, and if they were to say 'no,' we would be without a boat."

This is an approved budget item and necessary for the safety and convenience of those who dock their boats at the marina.

Plans, specifications, authorizing the work and the advertisement for bids was passed by the council.

Jeff Hi School Elects Officers

New things are happening at Jefferson High School this year. A new addition is nearly completed — the long-awaited Little Theater.

This year's student government consists of Student Body President Marco Lari, Vice President Pauline Scmidt, Secretary Denise Groeneveld, Treasurer Tanya Glenn, Corresponding Secretary Josefina Vargas, Rally Commissioner JoAnne Celestino, Club Commissioner Virginia Corden, and Election Commissioner Alex Senica.

The student government sets guide lines for most of the school's activities. It also participates in tackling many new problems as they involve the class such as: Early dismissal on Fridays if the campus grounds are kept clean during the week, collecting canned goods for the needy, and also in finding new ways to keep student interest in school rallies.

Much of the "spirit" this year is pointed toward the Spirit Trophy. The trophy is awarded to the class which has participated most in school rallies and activities throughout the school year. The competition between the juniors and seniors is pretty close, with the juniors leading.

Robin Hood Is Coming to Daly City

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Robin Hood was straight arrow all the way.

He stole from the rich and gave to the poor. Or at least that's how the story goes.

Walt Disney's "Robin Hood" is coming to Daly City Thursday, but he won't be stealing from anyone.

The 14th Century resident of Sherwood Forest will be asking for money and will give a ticket to Disney's latest feature length movie in return.

The money will be donated to the Daly City Police Department's Police Athletic League by sponsors of the film, to be shown at the Plaza Theater at 6:30 and 9 p.m. Thursday.

Filmed in Technicolor and using voices of some of filmdom's greatest performers — Roger Miller, Monica Evans, Phil Harris, Andy Devine, Carole Shelley, Peter Ustinov, Terry Thomas and Pat Buttram — the story of Robin Hood unfolds as great entertainment for children of all ages (to steal a line from Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus).

Miller, Johnny Mercer, Floyd Huddleston and George Bruns, wrote the songs sung by Phil Harris (in the role of Little John), Nancy Adams and Miller himself (the Rooster).

Brian Bedford is Foxy Robin Hood cartooned as . . . a fox.

Everyone knows the story of Robin Hood and his Merry Men of Sherwood Forest.

NOT VERY REGAL — Prince John is caught with his robes down, in Walt Disney Productions' animated cartoon feature, "Robin Hood," in which all the characters are animals, and just at the time when his voice provider, Peter Ustinov, comes in for an audience. The picture celebrates the company's 50 Happy Years.

Officials Deny Health Risk At San Mateo College

The president of the College of San Mateo stated this week that conditions in two rooms on his campus do not pose health risks for people using them.

According to a memo from Dr. David Mertes, "In November, an accusation was made concerning health conditions in the central duplicating and photographic laboratory facilities.

"I responded with a directive that operations cease in both facilities until officials from the Department of Public Health could return to the college, reconfirm all previous tests and assure us that we were in complete compliance with all health and safety standards.

Famed Coach

LOCAL NOTES:

How fleeting is fame, or ignorant the young, or something like that.

While recently lunching with a group of young Terra Nova High coaches, idly discussing deep stuff like popular television programs, we casually mentioned that old Squirmin' Herman Wedemeyer has a large role on the "Hawaii Five-O" series.

One guy grinned, and then another started giggling. "'Squirmin' Herm?'" repeated the giggler.

"Who?" said the grinner.

"Why, Herman Wedemeyer, the old Gael, the St. Mary's All American from Hawaii, the . . ." and at that moment, studying the incredulous faces of the young coaches, we realized that they weren't putting us on, but that they thought we were putting them on!

It was obvious. They had REALLY never heard of Squirmin' Herman Wedemeyer. "Who was he?" they asked.

Who was he, you young whippersnappers? He was a four year varsity player, that's who. A three time All American, (unanimous in his sophomore year). What did he do? He played tailback. He ran, he passed, he caught passes, he punted, place-kicked, returned kickoffs, returned punts and played defense. Played defense when he was doing all those other exhausting things? Damned right, and in 1945, the year he was a unanimous All American, he led the nation in interceptions, grabbing off nine of them.

OF COURSE, his biggest year was in the war year of '45. Hawaiians weren't eligible for the draft, not then being citizens of the United States, and the competition wasn't prime. But he was good in the more-or-less post war years of '46 and '47, too, and by the time his career had ended he was the nation's collegiate career leader in kick-off return yards, in total yards on all kicks returned (that included punts), was tied for first in interceptions, was sixth in passing yards per attempt, sixth in total offense, and ninth in passing yardage.

All that and he was only 5-10, 173 pounds, and a foreigner! His records have all since been wiped away by time, and so, apparently, has is memory. At least to the under-30's.

Oh well, we guess it isn't as bas as the time a few years ago when we learned that a large group of Stanford students hadn't heard of Frankie Albert, Norm Standlee or Ernie Nevers.

But now getting back to Spike Cordero . . .

WE'VE DISCOVERED another absurdity attached to that ludicrous North Peninsula League All League selection system. You remember that one. That's the one where the coaches picked their own men, each coach getting a first stringer in accordance to the number of games his team won.

The new wrinkle, or rather the old, undiscovered one, is that each coach got an Honorable Mention for each loss. Thus, it would have been impossible for an undefeated team to have an Honorable Mention selection, but it would have a guaranteed seven first-stringers, while it would have been impossible for an all-losing team to have a first stringer, but mandatory for them to have seven Honorable Mentions!

There are a lot of coaches who could guarantee a championship in almost any league with a guaranteed seven GENUINE Honorable Mentions, and the hell with one or two legitimate first string all leaguers.

DAVE FERNANDEZ, San Francisco State's record breaking running back, has been given Honorable Mention on the Associated Press small college All American team. Now, THAT'S a legitimate Honorable Mention.

FOOTBALL NOTES AND THOUGHTS:

49er rookie kicker Tom Wittum is now leading the NFL National Conference in punting.

What the 49ers may miss more than John Brodie's quarterbacking next year, is his ball holding for place kicker Bruce Gosset. The holder is an important one-third of the place kicking team (the other two-thirds being the center snapper and the kicker), and Brodie has been doing

Cap Takes El Camino Tourney

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Correspondent

Staying close to a Catholic school in either basketball or football is always considered a moral victory.

Defeating one is tantamount to euphoria.

The euphoric Capuchino Mustangs became the third consecutive Peninsula representative to win the El Camino Invitational Tournament Saturday night with a thrilling 57-56 victory over pretourney favorite St. Ignatius.

Defending champion Mills took third place with a 57-52 win over Lowell, while host El Camino took the consolation title with a 52-50 win over Westmoor and Jefferson blasted South San Francisco 67-60 for seventh place.

The biggest thing to come out of the Cap win over SI is probably confidence for the Mustangs, who must now prepare for the "real" season.

The win should make them serious contenders not only for the playoffs but for first place in the Mid-Peninsula League.

"I've seen better individual shooters," said losing coach Bob Drucker, "but I've never seen a team that shot so well together as Capuchino. I'd like to have (Cap coach Jimmy) Johnson's shooting drills."

Cap almost gave it away after battling to a hard-fought 57-52 lead with 27 seconds to go.

SI guard Mike Sanchez drove the middle for a layin and was fouled with 21 seconds left.

He missed the free throw, which would have brought the Wildcats within two, but Cap forward Dan Ross attempted bounch pass off the rebound was intercepted by SI's Vince Morelli right under the bucket for a quick layin and a 57-56 score.

Cap wasn't through handing out presents yet. With 10 seconds left Frank Denucci's pass under halfcourt pressure went out of bounds and SI had still one more chance.

Sanchez dribbled through Cap's pressure and flipped to Morelli, whose 15-foot jumper was about two inches too long as the buzzer sounded.

Cap committed only nine fouls (five by Mike Slotnick and four by Kim Jensen), and its second half zone defense forced SI into numerous passing errors. Three consecutive passes deep into the zone were intercepted, enabling the Mustangs to stay three points ahead through most of the fourth period.

Mills, the pressure off after losing to SI the night before, played loose and well against Lowell in gaining third place. Nick Pappageorge and Dan Begovich controlled the front line work for the Vikings and were able to counteract completely 6-5 Lowell center Bruce Barker.

Despite being saddled with the tourney's weakest official (the same person who had messed up the previous day's Cap-Lowell game), El Camino rallied in the last four minutes to down Westmoor for the consolation title.

John Christman and Steve Kennedy combined for seven points in the last two and a half minutes to repel Westmoor, which had led by as many as 11 points in the third period.

South S.F. continued to compile one of the truly amazing statistics in Peninsula basketball.

The Warriors in the last seven years, during which time they have won five league titles, have never ever won a tournament game of any sort — postseason, pre-season, Christmas or intrasquad.

Skyline Captures Third Place

Special to The Times

APTOS — Skyline College's basketball team, combining improved rebounding with its customary netburning, took third place in the Cabrillo Tournament Saturday night with a 78-73 win over Moorpark of Ventura County.

Skyline played its best basketball of the young season in the tourney, losing to eventual champion De Anza by only three.

The Trojans, who constantly run up against bigger teams, also got 128 rebounds in their three games — five short of the tournament record.

In other JC action last weekend, Menlo College took two games in the Butte Tournament in Chico, beating the Chico St. JVs Friday night 49-11 and bombing Western Nevada Saturday night, 88-46. Howie Dallmar was the leading Oak scorer Saturday with 22 — and 33 for the weekend. He had 27 rebounds in the two games.

Skyline led Moorpark from the opening tip — the first time it's led an entire game all season. "It was a nice, steady, well-played game," said Skyline coach Walt Rilliet.

Guard Wyatt Sweeney, who was named to his second all-tournament team of the season, had a cold first half. But teammates Mason Larkin, Marty Gale and Eddie Jones picked up the pace.

Sweeney came back in the second half to score 21 points, as the Trojans pulled out to lead by as much as 13. He finished with 25. Gale had 16, Jones 13 and Larkin 10.

"We also played defense well," said Rilliet. "Mac McCourt and Bob Marty were able to neutralize Moorpark's 6-8 center. We're out of those zones now, and playing good man-to-man defense."

CSM Bulldogs Crush Yuba College 98-68

By FRED BAER
Post Correspondent

Bobby Pounds managed to keep things interesting for College of San Mateo basketball fans Saturday night but still ruined the homecoming of a San Mateo High grad.

When it became apparent that visiting Yuba was being completely overwhelmed by the taller and quicker Bulldogs, Pounds played his reserves for 10½ minutes of the first half of the non-league contest after CSM had run up a 29-13 lead.

The 49ers, coached by Joe McCarron (S.M.H.S., '54) found less physical resistance from the second Bulldog unit and closed to within a point at 40-39 just before halftime. CSM went into the dressing room with a narrow 42-39 lead. But the regulars stormed out after the break and didn't let up again en route to a 98-68 victory.

It appeared Saturday's game at College Heights would never be close. San Mateo waltzed off with 16 straight points before the 49ers meshed the hoop. Bob Wright scored ten of those points as the Bulldogs forced repeated Yuba turnovers.

Before the regulars were relieved after just 9:31 had elapsed, Wright had 14 points and frosh Howard Trotter eight. Trotter led the second half binge and wound up with 14 field goals (one short of the school record) and 29 points — just one goal and two points better than Wright's evening output.

CSM forward Hollister Savidge dominated the backboards with 19 rebounds and reserve Ron Ronconi grabbed nine. However Bulldog frosh center Tony Williams had his poorest game with just two points and a pair of rebounds.

CSM 98, YUBA 68

Yuba (1-6): Belcher 1-0-2, Uttervik 3-0-6, Rutledge 9-7-25, Gray 2-2-6, Hackelberg 2-1-5, Lineburger 2-5-9, Fleidler 6-3-15. Totals: 25-18-68.

CSM (8-1): Trotter 14-1-29, Wright 13-1-27, Nance 3-0-6, Williams 1-0-2, Savidge 4-1-9, Anderson 3-0-6, Robinson 0-2-2, Ronconi 2-0-4, Rapa 1-0-2, Umland 3-5-11. Totals: 44-17-98.

Pilots Top Serra Hi

Serra High's basketball team ran into an East Bay buzz-saw Saturday night in the title game of the Moreau Tourney in San Lorenzo, and as a result, came back with its first loss of the season.

St. Joseph's of Alameda, quick, opportunistic and well-coached, ran past the Padres, 77-59, for Serra's initial setback after six straight wins.

"They really took it to us," said Padre Coach Pete Newell. "We'd already beaten a similar team at Buchser, but we were ready to play in that one. This time we weren't."

Utilizing a precision fast-break, the still undefeated Pilots stormed to a 15-point halftime lead and twice hit over 20 points in a quarter. Serra's defense had only allowed that to happen once before.

The Padres, who had beaten St. Joseph's for the tourney title last year, placed two men on the all-tourney team, seniors Buzz Harnett and Ron Jackson. Harnett had 52 points in three games.

"We were reacting to what they were doing," said Newell. "In the other games, people were reacting to us. We were disorganized."

The Padres take on highly-rated Woodside Friday night in the opening round of the Serra Invitational, which also includes Carlmont and Hillsdale.

Regents Matmen Win

Mills, Serramonte and San Mateo High Schools came away winners Friday in non-league wrestling meets.

Mills came from behind to blast Oceana 49-18 and San Mateo downed Terra Nova 34-22. Serramonte beat Aragon 59-18.

The Vikings dropped the first three matches to go down 18-0, but Mills then stormed back to take ten straight matches. Joe Canepa and Mike Kessler led the Viking attack.

San Mateo defeated Terra Nova for the first time in three years. Five Bearcats remained undefeated on the year and one (Ed Stringer) for two years.

Bruce Walker went about his business pinning his opponent in 5:15; Doug Lamp looked good in 154's as did Gary Buie in 191's.

Wrestling Victory

Terra Nova High opened its wrestling season on a winning note last week with a 38-22 win over visiting Capuchino.

The Tigers got clutch pins in the last two matches to take the victory. Dave Cocks was the outstanding performer in the match pinning his unlimited opponent from Cap in just 28 seconds.

In other action San Mateo downed Palo Alto 40-25 and Mills and Half Moon Bay tied, 30-30.

Getting quick pins for San Mateo were Bruce Walker (53 seconds) and Doug Lamp (2:51).

Mills led HMB by three going into the unlimited match, which was tied 1-1 right up to the final whistle.

But the referee said he'd called the Mills' grappler for stalling with two seconds to go, and awarded a point, and the match, to HMB.

it expertly for years. Can Gosset have another great season in '74 with an unfamiliar holder?

We still say that Fran Tarkenton is the closest thing to Frankie Albert we've ever seen. Except he throws better.

IT USED TO BE that the West team, in the East-West Shrine game, would be the team loaded with non-entities, name recognition-wise, as they say.

But has any team ever had the name recognition non-entities of this year's East team? Try some of these: Larry Van Loan, Gary Marangi, Chuck Ramsey, Norris Weese, Charles Young, Mark Van Eeghen, Barty Smith, Mike Webster, Gerry Sullivan, Dave Lapham, Tom Forrest, Bill Yoest, Don Clune, Keith Fanhorst, Carl Capria, Octavus Morgan, Terry Schmidt, Tony Bell, James McCollum, Waymond Bryant, Carl Barzilauskas, Edward Jones, and several others.

On the other hand, the West always won with their no-names, so . . .

BASEBALL NOTES AND THOUGHTS:

Nobody should get mad at Horace Stoneham for dealing away Willie Mays, Willie McCovey and Juan Marichal. We figure that what he saved in salaries and what cash he got in return for the trio has to total at least half a million. And the way the gate and his Arizona properties have been going, he needs it all to keep the franchise viable.

And there's plenty of precedent for dealing away stars for "just" money. Connie Mack twice broke up championship teams to save the Athletic franchise. So at least Horace isn't breaking up a pennant winner and, unlike Mack, he has outstanding young players to step in for the expensive vets.

It hasn't been well publicized, but Al Michails' backup man in the new Giant broadcasting crew will be Art Eckman, a Portland announcer who has been doing Houston Rocket games.

Sudden thought: Now that Buzzie Bavasi is presumably out of a job (reports are that he won't move with the San Diego franchise to Washington), why doesn't Stoneham hire him as GM?

We don't like all that talk about San Francisco being a poor sports town, especially when the bad-mouthing comes from New York, which has half the population of the world. As a matter of fact, a recent study showed that the Bay Area draws more fans to sporting events than does the New York area in proportion to population.

If you've been following the baseball trades, you'll appreciate the irony in the following headline out of the Sporting News, which appeared just before the winter baseball meetings: "Dodgers Unlikely to Repeat '72 Blockbuster Trading."

TAG AND: We wonder where all of Bob Feerick's critics are now, the ones who say he can't recognize young talent. Or didn't he draft Derrek Dickey, and weren't two other key second liners, George Johnson and Charley Johnson, picked up as free agents?

Building Proposal Presented to Council

Plans for a $15 million commercial-apartment building complex to be built on some 15 acres of land on Gellert Blvd. south of the Serramonte Shopping Center were presented to the Daly City City Council Monday night.

A total of 60,000 square feet of commercial office space, 350 apartment units, and an "under-building" garage for 812 cars, is now planned, according to Crocker Land Company architect John Badgley.

The site is extremely steep and has been severely graded, Badgely explained.

Ronald and Jack Fierman, heads of the Ronal Construction Company of Philadelphia, will develop the complex, Badgely said.

Elevators and "hillovaters" will take residents from the garage and street levels to pedestrian walkways and malls built on the side of the steep hillside, according to present plans.

Badgely said the one and two bedroom units are designed for family living "and not for quick turnover."

He said plans also include tot-lots and rest areas along the pedestrian walkways.

Businesses located along the frontage street — Gellert Blvd. — will not compete with the Serramonte shops, Badgely made clear.

There had been some criticism of the development in the light of earlier statements made by one architect on the project that "mom and pop" type stores might go into the new commercial area.

But Badgely said this was not true.

He said the type of commercial enterprises being considered were not small stores, such as those located in the shopping center. One business, the only one thus far expected to locate there, Badgely said, is a savings and loan company.

This savings and loan building will serve as an "anchor" for the commercial end of the development, Badgely said.

The council was told that since the total plans had been explained to the Serramonte Merchants Association objections had been dropped.

Councilman Bernard J. Lycett said he would strongly oppose any "threat to Serramonte."

The shopping center provides considerable revenues to Daly City, Lycett explained, "and I intend to protect that source."

Both City Planner John Walker and City Attorney Albert Polonsky said the city would have "some say" under present business license laws.

However, it was also explained that if the developer desired he could build 400,000 square feet of commercial on the site, because of the area's present zoning status.

"Instead (the developer) only intends to build 60,000 square feet," Badgely pointed out.

Polonsky said new Environmental Protection Agency "indirect source" directives might dictate the builder to resubmit plans if they are found to be in violation of rulings.

Councilman McRobert Stewart, indicating he had checked out the matter with city planners, said he would favor a complex that would "accent rather than detract" from the shopping center.

In other discussion at its public study session Monday, the council:

—Instructed the city attorney's office to draft new regulations concerning bad checks and delinquent accounts in the city's water department. It was anticipated the city will begin cracking down on such accounts.

Lucrative Racket

refund fraud ring members.

This store has installed a centralized computer system and is able to keep track of every and all refunds made to an individual.

"I promised I would not disclose the name of this store for security reasons," Levy said.

It was learned, however, that most stores do not coordinate their refund totals and each store branch sets its own policy regarding this matter.

Such diverse policies leave the store vulnerable to attack from these fast-moving rings.

This, coupled with the knowledge that stores historically have a large personnel turnover, allow gang members to operate around-the-clock between Sacramento and San Jose, Fresno to Daly City.

The Post also learned that one store, Macy's, uses a centralized computer in its work and employs the use of a "Regiscope" on all refunds made without a sales slip.

In some cases this machine also photographs checks being used in purchases.

But as clever as security becomes, the gangs seem to be one temporary step behind, a step they quickly catch up on.

For instance, to beat the "Regiscope," a gang member will steal one garment and purchase a similar item.

The sales slip is torn in half and both garments returned.

The fact that the wrong end of a sales slip, in one instance at least, is presented doesn't raise too many eyebrows among the harried refund checkers at a store.

And until these stores devise better security systems to catch these criminals, and store personnel are better trained in what to watch for, the general public will continue to pay for this crime spree, Levy said.

Commission to Probe JESD Hiring Complaint

The county's Human Relations Commission Dec. 11 agreed to investigate a complaint alleging that the Jefferson Elementary School District does not hire minority employes.

James Forrest, commission director, reported such an investigation would be entirely proper because complaints from Mexican-American organizations that the district lacks any affirmative action employment program has gone through regular channels without results.

"We intend to look into it," Forrest promised.

In a letter to the county commission, the Mexican American Affirmative Action Committee of Daly City said the district's own statistics for the 1972-73 school year show that "of a total school enrollment of 8,500 students, over 1,500 are children of Mexicano and Latino descent.

"And of a total professional staff of over 400, only seven persons (two per cent) are Raza professional staff. This pattern of discrimination cannot be tolerated. Many of the problems that affect our children such as low reading scores, a high drop out rate, lack of motivation, delinquency, can be traced to the district's staffing pattern."

In his letter to the Human Relations Commission, Francisco X. Camplis, chairman of the Latin organization, reported that complaints have been made to Supt. Keith Breon and the board of trustees "on several different occasions about the need for employing teaching personnel able to communicate with the Raza (Mexicano and Latino) child in his language, culture and experience."

"No assurances of corrective action have been given our complaints, and we are tired of the same plaintive response of how difficult it is to find Raza teachers and administrators."

The north county district was not the only school district to arouse the ire of commissioners Tuesday night; the Menlo Park City School District came under criticism for withdrawing from a five-district intercultural educational center after only three months.

Commissioner Susan Smith, chairman of the commission's education commission, reported Menlo Park district trustees voted three to two to withdraw from an intercultural school at its last meeting.

The intercultural school is composed of half black students from the Ravenswood Elementary School district in East Palo Alto and half white students from the Las Lomitas, Portola Valley, Woodside and, until now, Menlo Park districts.

Commissioner Audrey Minor complained the board rationalized its action, because of lack of money, but when the school is financed by funds from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, If lack of funds were the real reason, she charged, the Ravenswood District, which wants the program to continue, would be the first district to withdraw. She said Superintendent Franklyn O. White recommended against withdrawal, and no parent at the board meeting spoke in favor of it.

Younger Warns Of 'Danger Days'

Holiday parties, preoccupation with Christmas shopping, longer hours, earlier darkness and the ever-present possibility of fog or rain mark the period through New Year's Day as "Danger Days," State Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger said this week.

To keep accidents to a minimum, the state's chief law officer offered this advice to motorists:

& If you plan to attend holiday parties — and if you plan to drink at these parties — make plans to have someone else drive you home.

& Keep auto windows clean and the view unobstructed.

& Maintain and clean head and tail lights so they can give light when needed.

& Be patient in heavy traffic.

Leave for your destination early enough to allow for delays.

& Don't follow the car ahead too closely.

& Avoid changing lanes except when necessary.

& Watch the cars ahead and behind you.

& Always be on the alert for pedestrians and cars entering the roadway from side streets and parking areas.

Drunk Driving arrests, Younger added, traditionally soar in December and because of the "implied consent" law, license suspensions could increase.

The law says that a motorist must submit to a chemical test for intoxication when requested to do so by a police officer who has reasonable cause to believe the driver was driving while drunk.

If the suspect refuses, even though he's later acquitted of drunken driving, his license could still be suspended, related Younger.

Conviction of drunken driving carries other penalties. For example on a first offense it could run $500 and six months in jail, while a second offense maximum is twice as high, and there is a minimum five-day sentence. With injury involved it is a felony.

Police throughout the state will be on the alert during "Danger Days" and if a suspect refuses to take a scientific test for intoxication, the proper authorities will be notified and the license will be suspended, he explained.

Elevator Pondered In Pacifica

The day when the Pacifica City Council meets in its new council chambers, on the top floor of the administrative building of the wastewater treatment plant, still seems far away.

At last week's city council meeting, Richard Foss, of Cansoer-Townsend and Associates, who designed the treatment plant, gave a report of alternative plans for adding an elevator — required under state law before it can be used for public meetings.

Foss advised, that the elevator run inside the lobby staircase. Ramps would still have to be added, to provide access to the lobby from the outside under state laws banning "architectural barriers" for the handicapped.

New Gypsy Hill Plan Presented

What is the best way to stack 525 dwelling units on a site for gracious living that won't damage the environment?

This was the question before Pacifica planning commissioners at their study session Wednesday when they considered for the third time, a anew plan for the Gypsy Hill development on Sharp Park Road.

The first plan had been twin 19-story towers. The builders found, however, according to City Planner Jim Miller, that the building code did not permit a structure that high, when erected by the method proposed.

The second plan cut down the towers to the limit specified in the building code — 11 floors. That plan, however, was criticized by planning commissioners, who complained that the towers were so spread out that they blocked vies of Peafic.

The third plan, rpresented Wednesday night, also showed 11 floors, but divided into four towers, so as not to obstruct views. Commissioners indicated they favored the plan, so it appears likely it will be presented formally to the commissioners, according to Assistant Planner Jim Norton.

The complex will include a major restaurant, a small shopping center, tennis courts, swimming pools, health rooms and other amenities. It will be surrounded by open space with hiking trails.

To be heard at Monday's planning meeting will be an application by Harman Managers investment Inc., to put in a drive-in restaurant at 408 Coast Highway, on the southside of San Marlo Way in Rockaway Beach, and an application to build a novelty store on Pedro Point.

Transit Meet

A "rap session" on busing and the need for public transportation in San Bruno specifically and on the Peninsula generally will be held at san Bruno City Hall at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 19.

A New Assessment Project

Serramonte High Rating Itself

Serramonte High School in Daly City is currently conducting a needs assessment in preparation for installing a Planning, Programming, Budgeting System.

One problem educators face continuously is that of direction for their educational programs. Times change, the student population changes and the community changes, creating a need for occasionally updating education priorities.

The purpose of a needs assessment is to find out what the school and community think the current educational problems at Serramonte are, how the school and community feel about the students at Serramonte and what the school and community prefer the educational goals of Serramonte to be.

The school staff, about 150 students, and 150 community members are currently being interviewed in small group meetings. The student and community selections have been made according to representative factors such as ethnic background, sex, age, geographic location, occupation and parents or non-parents.

A survey by means of questionnaire will also be conducted. The results of the interviews and the survey will be gathered, priorities established and, later they will be published. This would conclude phase one of the two year pilot project.

Phase two, the second year of the pilot, will be the installation of a PPBS system. A Planning, Programming, Budgeting System is a system that begins with a needs assessment and then seeks different ways to solve the problems assessed in the most efficient manner.

Terra Nova Offers Language Clubs

Anne Hilo
Campus Correspondent

Two new clubs, the German and French clubs, have been added to Terra Nova High School this year.

Christel Flueter, the German Club advisor, hopes to give any student a better understanding of Germany, its people and culture.

Twenty people brought a variety of German food, from stuffed cabbage, to sauerkraut, to a German hot potato dish, to German pastries.

Dec. 15, the club members visited a German school in San Francisco at the Marina auditorium to learn German dialog.

The French Club members went to the San Francisco Palace of Legion of Honor

Firemen Kept Busy By 3 Calls

Three successive unrelated fires happening within about 30 minutes of one another Wednesday in Daly City prompted that city's fire department to alert Redwood Fire Control for possible mutual aid, and bring in Brisbane units to cover an empty Daly City Fire Station.

Fire authorities, said, however, that the three blazes were not of a major nature.

The first call was to 529 San Diego at about 1:56 p.m. Accoridng to fire officials, it was a structural fire with damages estimated at $1200.

A second call was to 121 Rio Verde at about 2:25 p.m. This blaze involved a lower apartment unit, causing an estimated $2500 in damage, officials said.

The third call, to the Jefferson High School Cafeteria, was within minutes of the second. It involved the burning of some books that were stacked in a cardboard box, and the blaze was put out by the time units arrived. Officials estimated the loss at $150.

Jan. Trial Set for Fazackerly

A jury trial has been set for Jan. 7 for discharged South San Francisco Police Officer Keith Fazackerley.

Dec. 11, Fazackerley pleaded innocent in the court of Municipal Judge Charles Bucker to charges of assault and battery while on official duty, and disturbing the peace.

A parallel proceeding by the city of South San Francisco Personnel Board on his firing for "alleged misconduct by an officer in the performance of his duty" is being held in abeyance until the criminal charges are disposed of.

Attorney Thomas Locci urged that another judge be obtained for the trial since Judge Becker knew many of the witnesses who will be called.

The arrest resulted from an incident alleged to have occurred Nov. 4. A woman claimed that Fazackerley entered her home, following an alleged disturbing the peace report, and tried to fondle her during his questioning. Bocci claimed that his client is innocent of all charges, and ajlleged that Police Chief Sal Rosano was "out to get him."

Pvt. Villa is regularly assigned as a member of Battery B, 1st Battalion of the 1st Armored Division.

Turkeys Prepared To-Go for Christmas

Chicken Unlimited has gone "turkey," is the latest word from Ed Chalkagian, owner of this bustling spot that specializes in take-out fried chicken, fish 'n chips, Whamburgers, etc. Between now and December 23, Chicken Unlimited will be taking orders for "prepared-to-go" Christmas turkeys, which are whole, fully-cooked Norbest turkeys. Also included is stuffing and gravy. Families may pick up their Holiday birds on Christmas Eve or Christmas morning. Don't tarry with your orders . . . Stewart Clay, who is appearing in the Lancer Lounge of the Holiday Inn, South San Francisco, has performed at major niteries throughout the country. In Washington, D.C., Clay has headlined in the Show Boat Lounge, the Shadows, and Potter House . . . As usual, the Holiday season is a bustling one for the energetic Nick Gust, who oversees three thriving restaurant operations in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. Nick's restaurant, the "Flagship" of the Gust's mini-empire, will be open and serving on Christmas Day from 10 a.m. to 2 a.m. The Moonraker, where superb Continental cuisine may be enjoyed in a nautical atmosphere, will also be open Chjistmas Day. Captain Charles, a gourmet seafood restaurant, will not be open Christmas Eve or Christmas Day.

TRAPS SANTA — Young Derek Alldred, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Alldred (he's general manager of Stickney's restaurants) seems to have a mutual understanding with Santa Claus, judging from the smiles on their faces. You can be sure Derek will be on hand when ol' St. Nick "swings in" with his reindeer and gifts on Christmas Morn..

The adjacent Tiki Garden restaurant, also owned by Frank Martinelli, is a great spot for Holiday entertaining. Two special menus will be offered. Call now for details . . . Down at the Bit of England, Charlie McFadden can help you plan a festive gathering for any type Holiday party. Groups of 70 persons, or less, are comfortably accommodated.

Shirt Tail Dining Tip Stuffed Filet of Sole

At the elegant Shirt Tail restaurant in Palo Alto, Chef Jack Hunter offers this dining tip: Stuffed Filet of Sole. It's rolled with baby shrimp and baked in a casserole with wine cream sauce and shallots. A Pouilly Fuisse or the delicate Blue Nun Liebfraumilch (a German Rhine wine) will complement the savory meal. . . . Earlybirds are already making reservations for Christmas dinner at the new Lehr's Greenhouse restaurant and florist in San Francisco. It's a perfect setting for a Holiday feast: a beautiful garden filled with blooming poinsettias and other flowers. Lehr will open the doors at 12 noon to accommodate the many families who prefer an early dinner.

HOLIDAY GREETINGS 1973

For almost a year now our beloved United States of America has been enduring an ordeal unparalleled in the history of this wonderful country of ours.

It seems to me that certain individuals have sold their souls and good judgment for the sake of the limelights of television, radio, and the press. They somehow cannot digest the great victory of a landslide election won by our President, who in my opinion has paid his debt to America a hundred-fold by ending the war in Southeast Asia and bringing home our great Heroes, the prisoners of war.

Let's pray that each of us will strive to make this a better world, in which all will live peacefully side by side, with goodwill toward our fellow man. Peace is what all mankind seeks. But to have and enjoy with dignity the freedoms that go with peace, we must work wholeheartedly for it.

This Christmas, by retaining love in our hearts and minds, let us re-affirm our faith in the Prince of Peace.

"Oh come all ye FAITHFUL, JOYFUL and TRIUMPHANT"

Frank Torres Features Peruvian Specialties

Over the years, Frank Torres Montara Beach restaurant has gained an enviable reputation for splendid seafood dishes, but Frank and Fannie encourage those who like to experiment with new recipes to try their Peruvian specialties. Papas Rellenas, for one, is served a la carte or on the dinner. The wine list is endless and includes many popular imported and domestic vintages. Christmas bells of various sizes, and all made by hand, hang from the ceiling throughout the restaurant. It's a beautiful display of Holiday spirit . . . Quite an entertainment lineup is scheduled for next week at Whiskey Hill. Thumper, with Bishop, will be performing Wednesday night, and Stroke will bandstand Friday and Saturday nights. Appearing Sunday will be Thumper . . . A special party and an evening of dancing in the spacious "Southern Room" will be the New Year's Eve enticements at the New Southern restaurant. Co-owner Reno Donati has inked a well known orchestra to entertain for the evening, and a special menu will be featured in the dining room. Get your party in the reservation book now.

Phil Lehr's Prune Pernod News Feature

The December issue of Beverage Industry News has a big feature story on Prune Pernod, one of the delectable desserts featured in the elegant Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco. The toothsome treat was created by Phil, one of the most talented and energetic restaurateurs in the business . . . There are many house specialties at Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant, such as the delectable Roast Chicken and Polenta (Sunday Special), Baked Lasagne, Spaghetti Caruso, Baked Fish, Fisherman's-style with rice, and Grilled Mahi Mahi. Wine selections are astonishingly varied and most agreeably priced . . . A great gift idea for someone who is especially difficult to shop for would be a Gift Certificate from Stuart Anderson's Black Angus restaurant. What nicer way to treat a member of the family or a friend. Certificates are available in any amount. A great evening of entertainment is presented in the lounge, Tuesdays through Saturday. Todd and Jeff are making this a record-breaking engagement.

Festive Yuletide for Airport Marina Hotel

There's an air of Holiday anticipation at the Airport Marina Hotel, on Airport Strip, Burlingame, where a gala New Year's Eve Party will begin with "Dinner for two" in Shipwreck Kelly's. The Holiday package is $30 per couple and includes anything on the menu, exclusive of gratuity and beverage. There will be the "Auld Lang Syne" spirit all along the way, with entertainment and dancing featuring The Brotherhood. So that you won't have the worry of driving home after the party is over, overnight lodgings with a late check out is included. It's fun, it's comfortable, it's safe. Make your reservations now for the festive Yuletide occasion. . . . The Hungry Tiger Seafood restaurant in San Mateo has certainly changed the thinking that only Providence, Rhode Island's world-famous Squantum Association and prestigious Pomham Club is synonymous with the baking of poquauhocks, or quahogs. The tradition of the classic New England clambake is a fantastic Thursday night affair at the Hungry Tiger restaurant, where Manager Albert Bardoux says reservations are a must. The new Sunday Brunch featured from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. is also an epicurian delight. Besides numerous brunch favorites, you can help yourself at the fresh fruit table and enjoy smoothies sipping champagne cocktails. Yes, there is a special children's menu.

Times Change, So Does Romano's Pizza

[illegible] Campbell's [illegible] and City for Chamber of Commerce, the largest [illegible] with curtain-time in mind. The menu, dinner-only service, offers a variety of entrees, which determines the dinner's cost. Antiques and artifacts provide interesting adornment, and a cozy fireplace lends hospitable warmth. The cocktail lounge is a jolly center these brisk evenings, and the Noel spirit is very much in evidence.

Formerly known as Deejay's, this spot has been completely remodeled throughout, with a considerable amount of money being spent to create a decor as unique as the catchy name. Early reservations are certainly advisable for dining out on New Year's Eve, and it is especially appropirate when planning dinner at the exotic Castaway. This Coyote Point restaurant is famed throughout the Bay Area for its romantic setting. Needless to say, the Castaway is quite a spot for any type Holiday party. Call Judy for further information . . . Manuel Garza also offers facilities for banquets, private parties, etc., at his Garza's Mexican restaurant. Although the restaurant is normally not open on Mondays and Tuesdays, Manuel will host private gatherings on these days. The remaining five days of the week, private parties can be booked after 9:30 p.m.

BEAUTIFUL AND BOUNCY — Bright-eyed Connie Stevens returns to Harrah's Reno December 22 for a two-week engagement through January 3. The star sings, dances, jokes, chats, and shares her special brand of show-biz happiness. Eve-Ette Chorus Finocchio Show Hit

Each member of the Eve-ettes chrous line, a big hit in the current revue at Finocchio's, is an established performer in his own right. Joining in the opening and closing of the four shows nightly are Pat Montclair, Estuardo Mora, Rene de Carlo, Reggie Dahl, Bobby D'Castro and Marla McCoy. Finocchio's will reopen December 26 . . . Jay Taylor, general manager of the Hillsdale Inn, has planned an evening of live music and dancing for New Year's Eve in the Winner's Circle dining room. The festivities will include the necessary favors to ring in the New Year. A Champagne Brunch will be offered on New Year's Day. Special room rates will apply for the evening, with $12 per couple being the tab. This includes a late check out New Year's Day . . . Joe and Lou Ercoli of the Leaning Tower in South San Francisco will be spending Christmas Day at home with their families, as the elegant restaurant will not be serving on that day. Quite a crowd is expected for New Year's Eve, though, when a special menu will be featured from 4 p.m. . . . Chef Philippe, a culinary crusader, demands perfection in cuisine preparation at his new La Bonne Auberge, where the menu is French inspired.

Disturbed Children in S.C. Schools

Some "very disturbed" children, beaten by the pressures and crises of modern-day living, are showing up in San Carlos Schools, district trustees learned Wednesday night.

"Stresses have taken their toll on families in general," School Psychologist Bill Schuyler told the board. "Children sometimes aren't able to cope with these pressures, and they are collapsing emotionally."

From the school's point of view, this means more children with emotional and often behavioral problems, Schuyler explained.

More cases of child neglect, child abuse and similar problems also are showing up, and Schuyler and his fellow Psychologist Nevio Tontini again laid the blame on our pressure-riddled society.

Schools Superintendent Nelson Burdett reiterated the district psychologists' findings and related that "more severe problems have ben occurring than in the past."

Tontini cited broken homes and the constant crises as reasors for emotional problems, and Schuyler added that he thinks children no longer get the "kind of emotional support they used to get at home."

The two psychologists told trustees they have a heavy case load for their counseling and more are waiting for their services. But, Tontini cautioned, "There is a point beyond which the school cannot be expected to go. Sometimes cases must be referred for private treatment or to county counseling services."

Responding to a question from Trustee Dorothy Skanderup, the psychologists affirmed that they meet with a disturbed child's family and "try to learn about his home environment."

They gave credit to San Carlos teachers as being "sharp diagnosticians. They are referring kids to us at an earlier age now, and it's due to the astute screening by the teachers."

The number of students being referred to mentally retarded classes (MR) is dropping, Schuyler said. "This doesn't mean that we have less such students. What it does mean is that we are now placing children where they really belong."

Despite the demands made on their time, the District psychologists said they feel good about the way they are able to work with children. They noted, however, that their work has increased both in volume and intensity.

S.M. Park Chief Is Suspended

San Mateo City Mgr. John C. Lilly has confirmed a City Hall report that Allan W. Hammer, 41, park superintendent has been suspended without pay until Jan. 8.

The disciplinary measure became effective on Monday.

Initially, Hammer received a dismissal notice effective Dec. 7, however, that was subsequently withdrawn after a conference on problems involving Hammer's attitude and actions, the city manager said.

The incident which triggered the suspension was Hammer's moving and enlargement of his office at the expense of work space and without awaiting the city manager's plans for revamping both the park and recreation departments which adjoin each other.

This, however, was the latest in a series of problems, it was reported.

Meanwhile, the park department is being directed by Bert Trubody, retired Oakland park superintendent. Trubody, who is 60, retired last April after 21 years with the Oakland park and recreation department. He has been appointed to serve during Hammer's absence by Lilly and will be paid the $1,584 monthly salary.

Trubody, Lilly said, was responsible for the develop the Knowland Zoo, Oakland's Children Fairyland, scores of other facilities, plus three golf courses.

Lilly today said he has received full assurance from Hammer that he will change his attitude henceforth.

Hammer contacted at home expressed his personal unhappiness and deep regret over the situation. He has been a city employe for 15 years.

Car Pool Service Is Revived

A car pool service is being revived for commuters of Pacifica, San Bruno and Daly City.
